Episode 05 - Special Guest Nick Sinclair from the Outsourced Accountant Discussing Setting up an Offshore Team

In this episode we are talking with Nick Sinclair from the Outsourced Accountant. Nick's business helped our business setup an offshore team and during this episode we are able to get a great insight into setting up an offshore team and some of the roles that can potentially be offshored. Nick also discusses the platform he used and countries he went to before landing in the Philippines and later on became one of the biggest offshoring providers in the country. He also talks about his journey having his own virtual assistant and how she helps to manage his day to day schedule. From receiving 350 emails a day to lowering it down to less than 20 emails which is one of the examples of the tasks and roles that can be offshored for business owners to free up time and focus on the important roles.

There is a global talent pool that is available for all sizes which is before only large businesses and multinational has access to offshore team and now this is available to all sizes and it's a real game changer.
